Freedom Houses Offer Hope, Healing and a Path Forward for Women in Need

By MICHELLE RUSCHMAN

Stephanie Fitzgerald, Founder of Freedom Life Compass, is on a mission to provide safe supportive housing for the residents who stay at the Freedom Houses located in Niceville, Fort Walton Beach, Crestview, and soon, Laurel Hill. "I want people to know change is possible. A community doesn't always see what brings someone to homelessness. But, for moms who are living in a car with their children, a woman who is escaping domestic abuse, or any other countless circumstances women can find themselves in, we want our program to be a place of hope."

By the age of 23, Stephanie had plenty of reasons to be hopeless. She grew up in a house with drugs, where teaching life skills to be a successful adult was not part of her training. Addiction was the norm in her home, and eventually, she became homeless. At 23, though, someone spoke words that would begin the journey toward her calling, "You're better than the life you're living."

"Not everybody ends up in homelessness, domestic violence, or addiction because of their own choices. Often, it is, but it can also be a generational issue. It's the lifestyle we grew up in, and we don't know any other way to live. Sometimes we end up in relationships that help our ruin. The Freedom Houses are about giving people who are ready to change the opportunity to do so. Other people believed in me and encouraged me, and that is how we were able to open Freedom Houses, so that other women and, hopefully, one day men, will have that community around them to help them find and take their next right step."

Each of the three homes has a different mission. Freedom House One is a transitional home for women only. It can house up to six women in a communal living space, and they are able to stay there for a six to eighteen-month program. While there, in addition to housing, the women get training in life skills and help with clothing, food, medical needs, employment, and counseling. In turn, they are asked to adhere to the following guidelines:

Imagine receiving a call from your child's school: your middle-schooler, diagnosed with ADD, lost his temper and screamed, "I wish I were dead." Because the staff knows you, they give you the option to take him to the emergency room yourself, instead of calling law enforcement.

You arrive at the ER, but there's no child psychologist. The ER doctor decides to send your child—

- There will be no overnight stays unless we have the address and phone number and speak with the individual two weeks in advance. If we do not feel it's a safe place for you to take a home pass, we will deny it. This is for your safety and well-being.

Freedom House Two is a short-term shelter for women until they can find a more permanent place to live. Freedom House Three houses women and children. Finally, Freedom House Four will be opening later this year in Laurel Hill for mothers and children. Plans are being made for animal therapy and fostering dogs to use for rehabilitation. Those who would like to see if they qualify for housing can fill out an application at www.freedomlifecompass.org.

It takes $40 a day per person, per night to house up to the 30 women and children the house can accommodate. This provides safe shelter, food, clothing, medications, and other daily needs. If you would like to be a sponsor or participate in helping any of the Freedom Houses in Niceville, Crestview, or Fort Walton Beach by mentoring, teaching a class, leading a devotion, offering transportation support, or by donation, go to www.freedomlifecompass.org/get-involved.

Top 5 Supplements to Spring into Health

By DR. KAREN DEVORE,
TORTOISE CLINIC

Here along the Gulf Coast, the arrival of spring means longer days and a return to the outdoor living that defines our beach communities. For many, it feels like a natural inflection point of renewed momentum and a reminder to re-prioritize energy, strength, and overall well-being. It's often during this season that people begin reaching for supplements and vitamins in hopes of supporting this shift.

At the Tortoise Clinic, I remind people that supplements are never a substitute for the fundamentals including balanced, protein-forward meals made from real food, restorative sleep, building and maintaining muscle mass, hydration, and thoughtful stress management. Supplementation and targeted nutrient support are tools within a larger health strategy, most effective when guided by informed science and thoughtful clinical oversight.

Not every supplement is appropriate for every person. When selected strategically, with attention to quality, bioavailability, and individual physiology, they can support the systems that drive sustainable energy and resilience.

Here are five I commonly evaluate this time of year, and how I think about applying them.

Vitamin D - A Hormone with Broad Impact

Despite its name, Vitamin D functions as a hormone in the body. It plays a role in immune balance, bone strength, muscle function, and mood regulation. Vitamin D receptors are found throughout the body, which helps explain its wide-reaching influence.

Deficiency remains common, even living in Florida. Indoor work, sunscreen use, skin tone variability, and seasonal shifts all contribute. When levels are sub-optimal, people may notice fatigue, slower recovery, decreased muscle strength, or a subtle dip in mood.

When I look closer: recurrent illness, low energy that doesn't improve with rest, mood changes, bone or muscle concerns, and limited sun exposure

Practical Tip: Vitamin D absorbs best when taken with food that contains healthy fats. Testing provides clarity — optimal levels are individualized, not guessed.

Magnesium - Calm Energy & Recovery

Magnesium supports muscle relaxation, sleep quality, blood sugar balance, and healthy stress response. It participates in hundreds of biochemical processes and is one of the most common nutrients I see run low.

Despite the beauty of coastal living, daily demands such as work, activity, travel, and stress still accumulate, and magnesium depletion is common.

Two forms I often consider:

Magnesium Glycinate: Supports relaxation and restorative sleep.

Magnesium Threonate: May support focus, cognitive clarity, and emotional steadiness.

When I look closer: muscle tension, poor sleep, stress reactivity, headaches, and difficulty focusing

Practical Tip: Magnesium glycinate is often best tolerated in the evening. Magnesium threonate can be used in the morning when focus support is desired. Some individuals divide doses based on response. Because magnesium influences muscle relaxation, higher amounts may also influence digestive rhythm. Gradual ad-

seven hours away—to a facility in Orlando for evaluation. You object. Emotions rise. The doctor blames you and asks you to leave. Your child is transported anyway, placed in a holding area with wooden slab beds and other children in crisis, screaming. He's terrified.

Three days later, a tele-psychiatrist finds your child isn't a threat and should be released. But when you return from a brief trip home, you discover your child was already transferred to an inpatient facility in Pensacola—without your consent. He must now remain for another three days, all while you watch helplessly.

This is the true story a mother shared with me after a recent Bring Hope Now presentation. Though a few years have passed and improvements have been made—such as the addition of Mobile Response Teams that now evaluate students on campus—children in crisis in our area still face long waits in local ERs and may be transported hours away due to a lack of local facilities.

This is exactly why we founded Bring Hope Now.

A Growing Crisis

In 2019, two community leaders—David Triana, founder of United for a Good Cause, and myself, Peggy Brockman—joined forces to address a terrifying trend: Northwest Florida, particularly Okaloosa County, had one of the fastest-growing youth suicide rates in the state. We set out to bring hope through a national peer-to-peer suicide prevention program in local schools. Eglin Federal Credit Union kickstarted our mission with a $50,000 donation. With support from Superintendent Marcus Chambers and the Okaloosa County School Board, the program launched in 2020. By the end of 2022, every school in the district had the program in place. It became a model of success.

In 2024, Bring Hope Now officially separated from United for a Good Cause to pursue broader goals. We expanded into the military community with "Hope on the Line," a peer-led suicide prevention initiative for active-duty personnel. But, another pressing need was calling us: a lack of local youth mental health facilities.

By the Numbers: Why Local Help Matters

The data is staggering. In the 2022–2023 school year, 376 children under 18 in Okaloosa and Walton Counties were involuntarily Baker Acted. Of those, 76% were first-time cases, and 92 were repeat cases.

Statewide, 87% of youth Baker Acts are due to suicidality: 46% had suicidal thoughts, 28% had a plan, and 10% had made an attempt.

Children are typically taken to a local ER, where they wait for an inpatient bed to open in Pensacola or Panama City. Some wait days. If extended treatment is needed, they're sent even farther—to Jacksonville or Orlando—hours from family and support systems. Many families can't even afford to retrieve their children afterward.

What if that Child Were Yours?

According to Florida Health Charts, 168 people in Okaloosa and Walton Counties went to an emergency room for self-harm injuries in 2023. Shockingly, 121 of them—72%—were children ages 5 to 19. Yes, even as young as five.

From the 2023 Florida Youth Survey:

- 22% of students said they almost always felt symptoms of stress, anxiety, or depression.
- 46% said these emotions stopped them from doing daily activities.
- 19% had seriously considered self-harm.
- Encouragingly, 31% sought help.

But we need more resources. And we need them here.

The Mission Ahead

With strong leadership from Board Chair Kathy Houchins and a growing board of community advocates, Bring Hope Now's next mission is clear: establish a youth mental health treatment facility for Okaloosa and Walton Counties.

We're currently seeking a facility or land to build a welcoming, home-like inpatient center.

Until that becomes a reality, we continue to train community members through QPR Gatekeeper Training—equipping everyday citizens with the tools to recognize suicide warning signs and how to respond.

We also aim to launch a local loss survivor program to support families who've lost loved ones to suicide.

A Community That Cares

We believe in this mission because we've lived it. I've personally experienced the pain of a suicide attempt and subsequent residential treatment with a grandson. I know what families are facing.

Bring Hope Now is not just one organization—it's a movement of people, volunteers, educators, parents, and advocates committed to changing the story for our youth.

We're looking for sponsors, volunteers, and in-kind support. Do you know a family who's lost a loved one to suicide? To get involved or learn more, visit www.BringHopeNow.com.

We'd be honored to include a sign in their memory at the event. To get involved or learn more, visit www.BringHopeNow.com.

It may take a village to raise a child—but it takes a whole community to save one.

Celebrate America 250! American Revolution Children's Corner

By BARBARA PALMGREN

The planning committee for America 250! American Revolution met February 13 to be the first to view the special exhibit staged in the new room addition at the Heritage Museum of Northwest Florida. Plans for special events throughout the year will continue and be shared on social media as well as local papers and other media.

Dr. Marie Hallion, Ph.D., curated the panels for the exhibit. Helping Marie was Karl Eschmann, Dooney Tickner and Parker Destin. The staging of the exhibit itself was the responsibility of Dr. Barbara Palmgren with guidance by Dr. Hallion and help from trustee Dr. Kristina Duffy and Arthur Edgar, Museum Manager.

At the meeting, trustee Ken Walsh, Marketing Chair, received ideas from trustee Mike Weaver, radio personality Dan Diamond, and Bay Life publisher Scott Miller. Events throughout the year will be headed by trustee Jene McCracken and Sallie Colwick with a large committee of volunteers.

Not to be forgotten is the important Children's Corner exhibit organized by Connie Wolfe who was joined by members Brittini Darbonnier and Mary Blackwell. Imagine children visiting and trying on colonial hats, jackets and dresses from this period in our history. No hats with plumes or decorations for the ladies, oh no, the hat of the period was a mop cap with a slight ruffled edge to ensure hair was contained beneath.

The exhibit can be visited as part of the museum entrance fee with no other fee required. The Heritage Museum of Northwest Florida is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and closed Sundays and Mondays. Please visit a history lesson like no other right her in the Florida Panhandle.

The industry-recognized honor celebrates financial institutions that promote effective saving strategies and financial readiness within the veteran community. Launched by America Saves in 2023, Veteran Saves Week encourages veterans and transitioning service members to build financial stability through practical, achievable saving habits and real-life financial check-ins. "We are proud to serve a thriving military and veteran community with services, support and solutions that simplify their financial lives," said Cathie Staton, Eglin FCU president and CEO. "Our Field of Membership includes active and retired military personnel assigned to or receiving services from Eglin Air Force Base, Hurlburt Field, Duke Field, Camp Rudder or the 7th Special Forces Group. "At its core, Veteran Saves Week encourages a financial check-in so Veterans and transitioning service members can better understand their day-to-day finances," said Krystel Spell, program manager of Veteran Saves. "This year, we were especially mindful of the moment we were in. Many households are making tough decisions, adjusting priorities and responding to unexpected financial changes. The organizations recognized this year helped make saving feel realistic for Veterans and service members, even during uncertain times."

Okaloosa Schools Earn National AP Honor Roll Recognition

The Okaloosa County School District announced that Choctawhatchee High School, Fort Walton Beach High School and Niceville High School have been named to the 2025 College Board AP School Honor Roll, a national distinction recognizing schools that expand access to Advanced Placement coursework while supporting strong student outcomes.

- Choctawhatchee High School earned Gold recognition.
- Fort Walton Beach High School earned Silver recognition.
- Niceville High School earned Silver recognition.

The AP School Honor Roll recognizes high schools that meet rigorous benchmarks in college readiness and student achievement, based on data from their most recent graduating class. Schools are evaluated on broad access to AP coursework, student success on AP exams, and sustained participation in advanced academics.

“Recognition on the AP School Honor Roll is a testament to the dedication of our students, teachers, and school leaders,” said Superintendent Marcus Chambers. “Choctawhatchee High School’s Gold distinction and the Silver recognition earned by Fort Walton Beach and Niceville High Schools reflect our district’s continued commitment to academic excellence and preparing students for future success.”

Snowbirds Honored by Fort Walton Snowbird Club

BY BARBARA PALMGREN

“There’s no place like home,” Dorothy once said, as the red slippers carried her back to Kansas from the land of Oz. While more true words could not be spoken, home for residents of the northern states and Canada is Okaloosa County each winter. Area snowbird groups welcome them back and yes, bid a fond farewell, as our friends return back up north to welcome spring.

This was the scenario one morning in Fort Walton Beach in mid-February at the First Baptist Church in Fort Walton where organizations and vendors shared information before a general meeting and entertainment. Tom Rice and Magnolia Grill provided the necessary coffee and snacks as did other groups like Saltwater Restaurants with a tuna salad sample for each person.

The Emerald Coast Community Band performed songs from musicals such as Mama Mia. Conductor Nathan Frymire led this talented volunteer group of musicians as snowbirds listened and applauded their approval. Ken Walsh and Barb Palmgren, trustees of the Heritage Museum of Northwest Florida, also performed a short skit about life in the 1920’s in Valparaiso. Ken was James Plew, a major developer of the area, and Barb was Lula Edge, postmistress and school board member. The audience laughed while this comedy team argued about where to put pickleball courts in Valparaiso.

All this doesn’t magically happen. The officers and staff of the Fort Walton Snowbird Club coordinated this and other meetings and events to keep visitors happy and busy. With volunteers like this in our community, we should all be proud! Farewell, snowbird friends, until next year when silver sands, specialty restaurants, pickleball courts, golf games, and shopping await you once again. And yes, for a few months you will be saying, “There’s no place like Fort Walton.”

Okaloosa County America 250 Commission Begins Planning Efforts for America 250 Celebration

By NICK TOMECEK, OKALOOSA COUNTY PIO

The Okaloosa County America 250 Commission held its first meeting on Thursday, February 5, 2026, in Shalimar to discuss and plan various 250 anniversary events to celebrate the birth of the United States and encourage every American in Okaloosa County to engage in this historic moment in our nation's history.

Commissioners attending the first meeting included the Sons of the American Revolution, Daughters of the American Revolution, Florida State America 250 Commission, the Florida Historical Commission, Okaloosa County School District, Chambers of Commerce, Okaloosa League of Cities, local US Military Bases, Scouting America NW Florida, Billy Bowlegs Association, first responders, and five (5) at-large appointees of the Okaloosa County Commission. Community volunteers interested in serving as support staff for the Commission were also in attendance.

"We have a rich history that deserves to be recognized both nationally and in Okaloosa County," said Okaloosa America 250 Commission Chairman

Graham Fountain. "We can all come together, pause and reflect on the contributions made by our patriot ancestors who fought and died to create our great republic and those many heroes that continue to make the United States of America a true example of freedom throughout the next 250 years."

The Commission will be identifying, scheduling, and co-sponsoring various 250 anniversary events throughout the 2026 celebration year. Events will be added and adjusted throughout the planning process.

Events include:

February 20 - All Sports Association will kick off a new Military Award in honor of Patriots and acknowledge America250!

February 28 - The Greater Fort Walton Beach Chamber of Commerce will host A HEROES DINNER, honoring our military. For tickets call the chamber at 850-244-8192.

March 21 - United for a Good Cause will host an America250! International Festival

May 9 - Patriots Day will be held in downtown Crestview with a Grand Parade and America 250 celebration at the courthouse.

June 12 - Patriotic Drone Show at the Destin-Fort Walton Beach Rigdon Center from 6-10 pm with a community tailgate at Freedom Tech Center/Fairgrounds for the show.

June 12 - A Gala will be held (hosted by the Choctawhatchee Bay DAR) in the evening at Destin-Fort Walton Beach Rigdon Center following the drone show. This event is open to anyone with purchased tickets.

July 4th America250! - Fireworks will be held by our local municipalities

In October, the Fort Walton Beach Chamber of Commerce plans to organize a "Remember 9/11" event with a Patriots focus.

ter on Okaloosa Island at 9 a.m., an 11:00 a.m. ceremony at Beal Memorial Cemetery, and a 1:00 p.m. Veterans Day Parade in Mary Esther.

To get us in the "spirit of 1776", the Commission encourages attendees/participants at events to dress in colonial/continental attire/period clothing; civilian wear, colonial military uniforms, dresses, tricorn hats and ladies' bonnets. "Part of the fun in paying tribute to the colonial/continental period of our history is learning more about our founders and ancestors and dressing in period attire at America 250 events," said Vice Chairman Mitzi Henley.

How to promote your event: Organizations wishing to have their event posted and advertised publicly should follow the instructions for submissions on the official Okaloosa America 250 website at getthecoast.com/America250.

Inspiring Stewardship. Protecting Our Future. Choctawhatchee Basin Alliance 2025 Impact

BY ALLISON MCDOWELL, CBA
For three decades, the Choctawhatchee Basin Alliance (CBA) has worked at the intersection of science, education, and restoration to protect one of Northwest Florida's most vital natural resources. Guided by data and powered by sustainable partnerships, CBA continues to advance meaningful, measurable conservation across the watershed.

- 3.35 acres of salt marsh and oyster habitat restored
- 600+ tons of limestone placed at higher-energy shoreline sites to reduce erosion and support living shoreline development
- Seagrass restoration lab initiated, with pilot plantings launched to expand submerged aquatic vegetation recovery efforts

Restoration

CBA's restoration work in 2025 focused on strengthening natural systems that protect water quality and coastal resilience.

- 140 vertical oyster gardens cultivated throughout the watershed
- 200+ tons of recycled oyster shells collected and returned to local waters for habitat creation

Monitoring & Research

As a leader in environmental monitoring, CBA places science-based conservation at the forefront of protecting the Choctawhatchee Basin. In 2025, CBA added 8 new sites for a total of 145 active water quality monitoring sites across the watershed, continuing to provide essential field expertise and data support for environmental monitoring and research throughout the region. Working alongside university, county, state, and federal partners, CBA helped expand monitoring coverage, improve public access to data, and strengthen the scientific foundation for both coastal and freshwater protection. These collaborative efforts ensure that restoration and management decisions are guided by sound science and a long-term understanding of our waterways.

mental experience, connecting classroom learning to tangible restoration outcomes. Through immersive, standards-based curriculum, CBA is cultivating the next generation of scientists, conservationists, and informed citizens.

Education & Outreach

Environmental stewardship begins in the classroom. In 2025, CBA reached 3,000+ students across 20 public schools and five homeschool groups, delivering monthly hands-on lessons aligned with STEM skills and Florida science standards. Programs like Grasses in Classes and oyster gardening give students real-world environ-

Sustainable Partnerships

CBA's impact is amplified through collaboration. Key partnerships in 2025 included:

- Northwest Florida Water Management District
- Oyster shell recycling restaurants
- Islanders Coastal Outfitter
- JW Couch Foundation

Together, these partners help fund, expand, and sustain restoration and education initiatives throughout the Basin.

Living Shoreline Enhances Choctawhatchee Bay

BY LORI SMITH
Okaloosa County has completed 2,000 feet of living shoreline along the Choctawhatchee Bay at Ross Marler Park on Okaloosa Island, marking a major milestone in shoreline protection and coastal restoration. The multi-year project utilized a cost-effective, nature-based solution designed to mitigate erosion while enhancing the coastal ecosystem surrounding Veterans Park and Marler Park. "This unique landscape is home to so many species that we need to protect," said Okaloosa County Commissioner Carolyn Ketchel (District 2). "This living shoreline will supplement their success, the health of our bay and extend the life of these

It's Almost Time for Pi Day March 14!

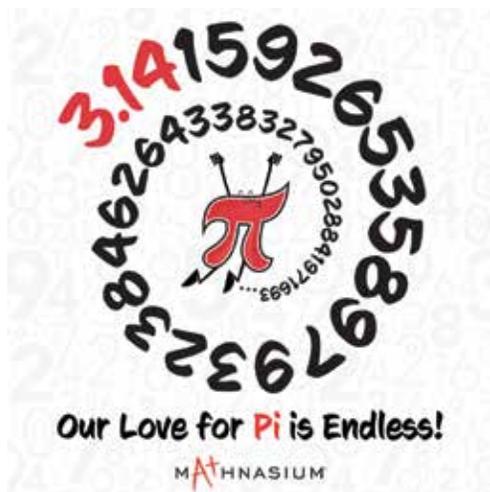

It's our favorite time of year again! March 14 marks another math holiday to celebrate the mathematical constant pi (π), reminding us that math is fun and applicable outside the math classroom.

Pi is the ratio of a circle's circumference (C) to its diameter (d). In other words, the distance around a circle divided by the distance across the circle is always the same number: $\pi = C/d$. You can take any perfect circle and divide these two measurements to get $\sim 22/7$ or ~ 3.14 . Since pi is an irrational number, it goes on forever and ever without repeating a pattern!

Just like its digits, pi's uses extend infinitely. NASA (National Aeronautics and Space Administration) has told us that pi's uses go beyond Earth, from operating a parachute on Mars and getting new perspectives on Saturn, to talking to spacecraft. But mathematicians, physicists, and engineers are not the only ones to recognize the beauty of pi. Artists have taken this irrational number and created stunning pieces to display its wonder.

Now, it is you and your child's turn to explore pi.

Stop by Mathnasium Niceville to pick up copies of Pi Day March 14 activities to discover as many digits of pi as you can and create your own pi art pieces. Collect circular objects and find the ratio between their circumference and diameter. Record your child's measurements in the table provided and calculate the approximation of pi. Vary the sizes of circles. For example: a coin, cookie, and a hula-hoop. Invite friends and family members to join the fun!

Here are some more facts about this mathematical wonder.

- π is a Greek letter p.
- Several methods exist for approximating pi, with origins extending as far back as 3000 B.C., and evidence suggests that Egyptians attempted to approximate pi in pyramids and the surface area of a hemisphere. Greek and Chinese mathematicians later independently approximated pi by inscribing and circumscribing multi-sided polygons with circles. Indian and Arabic mathematicians followed afterward to calculate numerous digits of pi. Now, the Madhava-Gregory-Leibniz infinite series is an exact formula for pi.

• NASA requires only 16 digits of pi to precisely calculate distances for orbiting spacecraft and only about 39 digits to calculate the circumference of the visible universe.

While NASA may not require more digits of pi, computer scientists use many digits of pi to check the processing power of computers, similar to a stress test.

• Pi can now be calculated to over 60 trillion decimal places.

Pi never ceases to amaze us. Just like the digits of pi, we hope your love for and curiosity about math goes on forever and ever!

Contact us at Mathnasium of Niceville at 850-987-MATH (6284) to find out more on celebrating pi. Whether you spend the day eating circle-shaped foods, memorizing the digits of pi, or making pi art, be sure to follow us on social media, tell us how you marked this special day, and don't forget to tag us. We'll be watching for your posts!

Mathnasium of Niceville serves students from Niceville, Bluewater Bay, Shalimar, Valparaiso and Fort Walton Beach. Local schools include Niceville High School, Bluewater Bay Elementary School, Plew Elementary School, Ruckel Middle

wonderful parks.”

Living shorelines are natural or nature-based solutions that protect coastal areas from erosion while supporting habitat and improving water quality. Unlike traditional hard structures such as seawalls or riprap, living shorelines use native vegetation, oyster reefs, coir logs, and other natural materials to stabilize shorelines. These systems work with natural coastal processes by absorbing wave energy, trapping sediments, and providing essential habitat for fish, crabs, and birds, while also enhancing nutrient filtration, carbon storage, and overall ecological health.

The living shoreline approach was significantly more cost-effective than traditional shoreline barriers and aligned with the parks' intended use by visitors while prioritizing preservation of the surrounding natural environment.

“Projects like these involve a team from multiple departments in the County,” said Okaloosa County Vice Chairman Drew Palmer (District 5). “I want to thank the engineers, project managers, coastal scientists and grant specialists who worked together to complete this project and ensure that our shorelines are protected for the future enjoyment of the public.”

In addition to reducing long-term erosion maintenance costs, the living shoreline is expected to grow and strengthen over time. Funding for the project included $1.5 million in tourism bed tax revenue, a $1.5 million grant from the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation, and $1.6 million from the RESTORE Council through the Gulf Consortium.

“It's never wrong to be good stewards of the blessings that surround us, and thankfully, this now includes our shoreline,” said Okaloosa County Commissioner Sherri Cox (District 3).

Residents can learn more about living shorelines, including local projects in Choctawhatchee Bay, through the UF/IFAS Okaloosa County Extension Sea Grant program, which works to educate the community on resilient, sustainable coastal solutions that balance shoreline protection with ecological function. A Special Exhibit to Honor African American Military History

Having worked with Jonathan Holmes, Aerospace Museum Curator at the Air Force Armament Museum located on Eglin Air Force Base and easily accessible to the public, I learned of a new project soon to be shared with everyone. The Armament Museum is one of the members of the county group of museums that support and promote all museums in Okaloosa County.

The African American Military Historical Society (AAMHS), is a 501C3 nonprofit organization dedicated to preserving the historical contributions of African Americans in American military history within U.S. borders and overseas from the Revolutionary War to present day.

The mission of the AAMHS is to research, establish and continually develop a well-documented multi-visual educational timeline that can be used to educate on different historical platforms for future generations of the contributions and sacrifices.

The AAMHS was formed in 2021 by Mr. Jonathan Holmes, Sr., who retired from the USAF in 2013 and then began working at the Armament Museum. Jonathan attended a Tuskegee Airmen event in 2019 and then, after a Juneteenth event in 2021 and the introduction of free-standing military Quonset huts at the Armament Museum, Jonathan asked permission to have one of these buildings dedicated to a project to preserve this legacy of the African American military.

This stand-alone African American Military History Exhibit Hall in the U.S. Air Force's Heritage Program will be located at the Air Force Armament Museum. Contributions are still needed and appreciated for the displays, which are funded through contributions to the AAMHS. You can visit aamhsociety.org to donate.

The African American Military History Exhibition Hall is set to open in Spring/Summer 2026. This unique exhibition hall will feature interactive displays, artifacts, displays of military artwork, and more. Jonathan told me this in the only exhibit like this in the country! I think this is a project our community can truly be proud of as we share it with everyone who visits the Armament Museum.

I am honored to share this upcoming information with the public in this special year when we celebrate the 250th anniversary of the birth of our nation. During the Revolutionary War, African Americans fought as patriots in the Continental Army to secure our nation as an independent nation, the United States of America.

Emerald Coast Boat & Lifestyle Show March 6-8

“Growth!” That is how Scott Burt of the Emerald Coast Boat & Lifestyle Show described this year’s event, which returns to Panama City Beach March 6th-8th.

Boating, fishing, and outdoor enthusiasts, as well as those who love living the Coastal Lifestyle, will notice the show’s growth, with dealers expanding their footprints and showcasing new brands and models. The Grand Lawn portion of the show will feature 50% more boats this year than in previous years, as Ashley Marine will join longtime Grand Lawn dealers Marine-Max and Grander Marine.

Also joining the show this year is Bill Cramer Chevrolet GMC as the Official Truck of the 2026 Emerald Coast Boat and Lifestyle Show. The local dealer will be featuring Chevrolet and GMC trucks at Aaron Bessant Park for those who will need a new tow vehicle to match their new boat purchase.

Guests at the show will also notice the growth at the show’s venue, Aaron Bessant Park. The 70-acre, meticulously maintained green space has added a new 4,800-square-foot pavilion, new fencing, enhanced landscaping, and a new lighting and sound system.

“The park has never looked better,” said Burt. “The city has done a great job with all the new enhancements, and I know they will be well received by those coming to the show.”

Again this year, the top dealers in the Southeast will display more than 400 boats, which is more than 40 million dollars’ worth of bay boats, pontoons, cruisers, personal watercraft, and center consoles, from 17’ to those well over 40 feet, along with the latest marine electronics and innovations.

This on-site collection of dealers and manufacturers allows buyers to compare boats side by side while taking advantage of the best discounts and incentives available exclusively at the show.

In addition to boats, a curated lineup of Coastal Lifestyle exhibitors and vendors will showcase the best of Gulf Coast living. Boating accessories, fishing, paddle boarding, kayaking, biking, electric carts, product demonstrations, seminars, beach furniture, coastal artists, condo and beach house furnishing, kids’ activities, live music, food trucks, craft beer, and cocktails are all part of the show.

Parking for the show is always free at the adjacent Pier Park. The show will once again honor military members and first responders on Sunday. For

Saddle Up for a Cause: Westonwood Ranch Rodeo

By LORI SMITH

Our area's hometown rodeo is back — and it's more than just a night of bulls, broncs and barrel racing. The 7th Annual Westonwood Ranch Pro Rodeo returns March 27–28 at the Freeport Regional Sports Complex, bringing high-energy entertainment to the community while raising vital support for one of Walton County's most meaningful nonprofit missions.

Presented in partnership with the Walton County Sheriff's Office and the City of Freeport, the two-night event invites families from across the Emerald Coast to gather for live rodeo action, music, food vendors and kid-friendly fun — all while helping teens and young adults with developmental differences build brighter futures.

Doors open at 6 p.m. each evening, with Professional Cowboy Association performances kicking off at 7:30 p.m. Fans can expect classic rodeo events including bareback bronc riding, steer wrestling, breakaway roping, ladies barrel racing, team roping and bull riding. Children's activities, bounce houses and local vendors will add to the festive, family-focused atmosphere.

Tickets are sold at the gate only, with proceeds directly supporting Westonwood Ranch programs that serve individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities in our area and throughout Northwest Florida.

More Than a Rodeo: The Heart Behind Westonwood Ranch

While the rodeo has become a beloved local tradition, its true purpose goes far beyond the arena lights. Westonwood Ranch is a Freeport-based nonprofit dedicated to helping teens and young adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities gain life skills, job training and independence through hands-on, real-world experiences.

Located on a holistic ranch campus along U.S. Highway 20, Westonwood provides vocational training, functional learning opportunities and social enterprises that build confidence and prepare participants for meaningful employment. Programs focus on recognizing “ability over disability,” giving individuals the tools they need to thrive and live productive, independent lives.

Through farm-based activities, animal care, vocational training and structured life-skills programs, participants experience daily victories — mastering new tasks, developing friendships and discovering their unique potential.

A Growing Impact

Westonwood Ranch has become a vital resource for families across Walton and Okaloosa counties, filling a critical transition gap between high school and adulthood for individuals with developmental differences.

The organization's impact continues to expand. Recent investments and community support are helping fund new training spaces and future supportive housing initiatives designed to create inclusive living environments where young adults can work, learn and build lasting friendships.

Events like the annual rodeo play a key role in making that growth possible, bringing neighbors together while raising funds that sustain programs year-round.

Whether you're a longtime rodeo fan or simply looking for a unique way to spend a spring evening, the Westonwood Ranch Rodeo offers something for everyone — from thrilling cowboy competition to community connection.

But at its core, the event is about celebrating inclusion and creating opportunities for individuals who often face barriers to independence.

For more information about Westonwood Ranch or its upcoming rodeo, visit westonwood.org.

Golf Series: Blue Tee Restaurant Serves Golfers and Community at Blue Water Bay Golf Club

BY BARBARA PALMGREN

Growing up in Oklahoma, Trinity Coleman worked at her mother's steakhouse — a restaurant that served three meals a day. Later, she stepped away from the restaurant business as she married Trey Coleman and spent many happy, active-duty military years with Trey and their three children while he served in the United States Air Force.

Five years ago, now retired, Trinity and Trey returned to their restaurant roots. Drawing on years of experience, they purchased Tisano's restaurant in Bluewater Bay from Mike Tisa. Their culinary creations quickly became part of the Niceville community's favorite reasons to dine out and support local business.

When Trinity learned that the restaurant at Bluewater Bay Golf Club was available, it felt like the perfect opportunity to change locations and help the club once again offer food to golfers and the public. After purchasing the venue in June 2025, Trinity and Trey spent two months preparing the kitchen and restaurant for opening.

What a grand opening it was in August! The community was thrilled that three meals a day would once again be served. And how fitting — Trinity understands that good things come in threes. Her mother's steakhouse served three meals, three children make the perfect family ... and yes, the name Trinity does reference "three," doesn't it? Maybe we should rename a line from a famous song — "It's three o'clock somewhere."

But don't wait for three o'clock. The Blue Tee opens early with a breakfast menu sure to please, featuring crepes, omelets, egg dishes, burritos, benedicts and more — all the makings of one of the Panhandle's best breakfast menus.

Trinity says the top lunch sellers are the Club Sandwich and the Reuben, though with so many options, guests may want to return again and again to try them all. Dinner offers a wide variety of choices that won't disappoint. In addition to the restaurant and bar area, a private banquet room is available for rental. Trinity can design special banquets for groups, and food and drink options are also available for meetings and gatherings. She says golfers especially appreciate having the restaurant open again for food and drinks.

Don't wait any longer to try this outstanding new restaurant, The Blue Tee, located in the Bluewater Bay Golf Course clubhouse in Niceville. It's open to the public for breakfast, lunch and dinner, offering a full bar, cocktails and comfort food in a welcoming setting.

Why Business Professionals Struggle to Exercise — and Why Strength Matters More Than They Think

tured exercise. Even when time technically exists, energy does not. Modern business roles are mentally exhausting, requiring continuous decision-making, problem-solving, and emotional regulation. By the end of the day, professionals may feel depleted despite having barely moved their bodies.

Work culture compounds the issue. In many industries, long hours are equated with commitment and success. Stepping away to exercise can feel irresponsible or self-indulgent, especially in competitive environments. Physical training is quietly categorized as optional, while work obligations are treated as non-negotiable. What people don't realize is the long sedentary hours are taking more of a toll on the body than you might think. Sitting 8-10 hours a day is not how our bodies were designed.

Ironically, this mindset ignores an important truth: physical strength closely parallels professional strength. Building muscle requires consistency, discipline, patience, and the willingness to tolerate discomfort—qualities that also define effective leadership and ca-

For many business professionals, exercise is an ongoing frustration. The desire is there, the benefits are well known, yet workouts are often the first thing sacrificed when schedules tighten. Long hours, constant demands, and high expectations make consistent exercise feel unrealistic. But beneath the surface, the struggle is about more than time—it reflects how strength, standards, and performance are viewed in professional life. It is hard when social media glorifies different time hacks and getting up at 4 am for workouts. That is just feasible for everyone.

Time pressure is the most obvious barrier. Early meetings, late emails, and packed calendars leave little space for strucreer growth. Strength training teaches delayed gratification, resilience under stress, and the ability to perform even when conditions are not ideal. These traits translate directly to the workplace.

Yet many professionals fail to apply the same standards to their health that they apply to their work. In business, clear expectations drive behavior. Deadlines are met because they matter. Metrics are tracked because they signal performance. Exercise, by contrast, often lacks a defined standard. Without a minimum expectation—two strength sessions per week, for example—it becomes negotiable, and negotiable commitments rarely survive busy schedules.

There is also a tendency toward all-or-nothing thinking. Professionals accustomed to high performance may believe that if they cannot train perfectly, they should not train at all. Missed workouts become failures rather than temporary setbacks. Over time, this erodes consistency and confidence, making exercise feel like another area of underperformance.

The consequences are not limited to physical health. Lack of strength contributes to chronic fatigue, poor stress tolerance, declining posture, and increased injury risk. These physical limitations quietly undermine focus, patience, and decision-making—the very qualities professionals depend on to succeed.

The solution is not more motivation, but clear standards and intentional stress. Strength improves only when the body is challenged beyond its current capacity. Similarly, professional growth requires deliberate effort, not comfort. Progressive resistance training—gradually doing more over time—creates the stress that forces adaptation. In work and in health, growth follows the same rule: without challenge, nothing changes.

For business professionals, exercise should not be framed as leisure or self-care alone, but as performance maintenance. Setting a non-negotiable standard for physical strength reinforces identity, discipline, and resilience. It sends a clear message: the same commitment applied to career success applies to the body that sustains it.

In the end, strength is not a distraction from professional life. It is a reflection of it. And like any meaningful standard, it must be defined, protected, and upheld—especially when life gets busy.

How Medicare Changes Are Impacting Post-Acute Providers and Senior Care

BY TERESA HALVERSON,
BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT/
COMMUNITY RELATIONS

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services is removing 285 procedures labeled inpatient-only, or IPO, many of them for acute care surgeries that have historically driven patients to nursing and rehabilitation facilities for follow-up care. Importantly, the agency's Hospital Outpatient Prospective Payment rule made no blanket provision for skilled nursing coverage for patients opting for outpatient alternatives that doesn't include a requisite three-day stay. (-McK-nights)

Post-Acute care (PAC) is a critical bridge between a hospital stay and a full return to home life. While Medicare continues to evolve its payment rules, quality programs and coverage policies are reshaping the landscape for post-acute providers, including skilled nursing and rehabilitation facilities (SNFs) and other settings that serve seniors after a hospital stay.

The year 2026 brings shifts in In-Patient and Out-Patient Policies Affecting Post-Acute Referrals. Medicare's efforts to shift more procedures from in-patient hospitals to outpatient and ambulatory surgical settings are affecting seniors and post-acute care models. The key issue is outpatient status limits Medicare coverage for rehab. As more surgeries move to "Out-Patient" settings, seniors seeking post-acute care will no longer qualify for the 3-night stay to admit to a skilled nursing and rehabilitation facility under Medicare Guidelines. (-Long Term Care News)

This policy can be tough on:

- Seniors who live alone
- Patients with mobility or cognitive issues
- People recovering from joint, spine, or complex procedures

Why does this matter? Medicare will not pay for SNF rehab unless the patient has:

- Three consecutive in-patient mid-nights in a hospital
- Observation or outpatient days do not count

If surgery is outpatient-only, the patient cannot qualify for

Medicare-covered SNF rehab—even if:

- They cannot walk safely
- They live alone
- Their physician recommends rehab

What is Covered After Outpatient Surgery

Medicare may cover:

- Home health care (nursing, PT, OT) if homebound and medically necessary (Home health is intermittent, not 24/7. Outpatient therapy (PT/OT at a clinic)
- Durable medical equipment (walker, Commode, etc.)
- Follow-up visits

What Seniors and Families Should Do Before Surgery

Ask directly:

- "Is this surgery classified as inpatient or outpatient under Medicare?"

Plan the discharge:

- Who will help at home?
- Are home health services arranged?

Ask about alternatives:

- Is inpatient admission ever possible?
- Can surgery timing or complexity change status?

Appeal if appropriate:

- Rare, but sometimes misclassification happens

Clarify Hospital Status (this is critical)

- "Can you confirm whether they were admitted as inpatient or under observation, and on which dates?"

Follow up if needed:

- "Was inpatient admission medically appropriate at any point?"
- "Can we request a status review before discharge?"

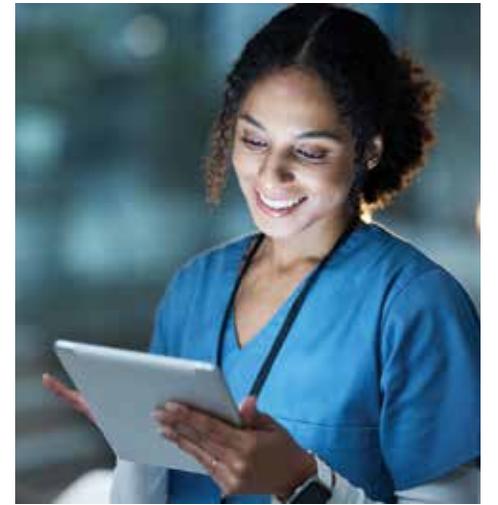

Tie Safety Risks to Specific Limitation

Avoid general statements. Use concrete examples:

- "They cannot transfer safely without hands-on assistance."
- "They are a high fall risk and cannot manage stairs / bathroom independently."
- "They require assistance with toileting, bathing, or medication management."
- "There is no reliable caregiver available 24/7."

If true, say it plainly:

- "Discharging them home today would place them at risk of injury or rehospitalization."
- Push for rehab screening (even if Medicare won't pay)

- "We want them formally evaluated for all rehab options, including SNF and inpatient rehab."

Specifically ask:

- "Has an inpatient rehab

 Wellness

BY DR. RICHARD CHERN, MD

We don't notice it happening at first. Winter rarely announces itself all at once—it settles in quietly. Shorter days. Colder mornings. Longer evenings spent on the couch. Same house, same routine, but something feels different. There's less energy, less motivation, less desire to care.

Where we once enjoyed moving our bodies, getting outside, and feeling strong and capable, now the alarm rings and staying in bed feels easier. Joints ache. Muscles feel weaker. Even simple routines—exercise, cooking well, making time for ourselves—feel like work instead of something life-giving. It's easy to dismiss it as stress, age, or just “the time of year.”

As spring approaches, the light begins to change. A familiar spark returns—the desire to feel better, to take care of ourselves again, to re-engage with life. But the energy we expect doesn't necessarily follow the season. Motivation fades as quickly as it appeared, leaving frustration and the quiet question: Why don't I feel like I should?

At The Hormone Restoration Center, we hear this story every year.

Winter blues aren't just about the weather. They're also about hormones. As daylight decreases, hormonal signaling in the body shifts. Testosterone, estrogen, progesterone, thyroid hormones, cortisol—and even Vitamin D—all influence how we feel, how we move, how we sleep, and how we recover. What many people don't realize is Vitamin D isn't just a vitamin; it functions as a hormone, affecting mood, immune health, muscle strength, and bone density. During the winter months, when sunlight exposure drops, Vitamin D levels often fall right along with energy and motivation.

When Spring Comes Back to Life

When hormones decline or fall out of balance, energy drops, mood flattens, sleep suffers, and winter feels longer and heavier than it should.

Hormones also do far more than influence mood or libido. They are foundational to the body itself. Testosterone and estrogen are essential for maintaining muscle mass in both men and women. When levels are low, the body loses lean muscle—even with consistent exercise. As muscle declines, metabolism slows, joints lose support, and fatigue becomes the norm rather than the exception.

Hormones play a critical role in bone health as well. Estrogen, testosterone, and Vitamin D work together to protect bone density. When any of them are deficient, bone loss accelerates, increasing the risk of osteoporosis and fractures in both men and women. This loss happens quietly, often for years, before it ever makes itself known.

This is why so many people feel tired, frustrated, and fragile. Why workouts stop working. Why motivation disappears. Why winter feels like survival instead of rest—and why spring can feel like a letdown.

Hormone optimization helps.

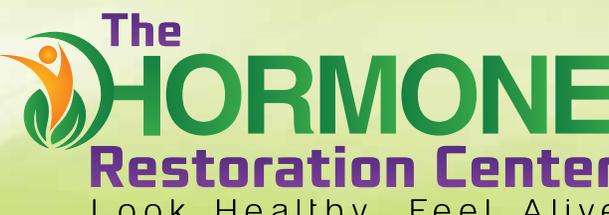

When hormones are restored to healthy levels the body responds. Energy improves. Muscle becomes easier to build and maintain. Bones are protected. Sleep deepens. Mood stabilizes. That natural desire to care for yourself returns.

Hormone Replacement Therapy isn't about pushing the body beyond normal. It's about restoring what time, stress, and life have gradually taken away.

At The Hormone Restoration Center, we take a comprehensive, personalized approach. You're not broken, and you're not alone. You don't have to wait for another season to feel like yourself again. Just call us: (850) 837-1271. It might just change your life.

Omega-3 Fatty Acids - Inflammation & Heart Support

Omega-3 fats help regulate inflammation and support heart health, joint comfort, brain function, and mood stability. Even with access to fresh seafood, consistent intake of meaningful amounts of omega-3s is less common than many assume. Modern dietary patterns tend to favor inflammatory fats over anti-inflammatory ones. As activity increases and seasonal allergens rise, balanced inflammatory support becomes increasingly important.

When I look closer: joint stiffness, cardiovascular risk factors, brain fog, mood variability, and seasonal inflammatory symptoms Practical Tip: If fish oil results in occasional upper digestive discomfort or burping freezing capsules may help. Those taking blood thinners should consult their provider. Wild-caught fatty fish remains an excellent whole-food option.

Probiotics + Prebiotic Fiber - Digestive Precision

The gut influences immune function, hormone balance, inflammation, and mood. Probiotics introduce beneficial bacteria, the “seeds,” while prebiotic fibers provide the nourishment that allows them to flourish. Together, they help shape digestive terrain.

Not all probiotics are the same. Strains and potencies vary, and prebiotic fibers can aggravate some digestive systems if introduced too quickly. Because not every gut responds the same way, they should be introduced thoughtfully and increased gradually.

It’s also important to recognize that not every digestive system benefits from supplemental probiotics or prebiotic fibers. Certain digestive patterns or underlying gut conditions may require a more targeted approach rather than broad supplementation.

When I look closer: bloating or irregular digestion, recent antibiotic use, immune imbalance, and skin or hormone concerns

Practical Tip: Start low. Increase gradually. Monitor response carefully. Individuals using GLP-1 medications may benefit from additional digestive support due to slowed gastric emptying, but adjustments should always be gradual and individualized.

B-Complex Vitamins - Cellular Energy & Stress Support

B vitamins are essential for energy production, nervous system signaling, red blood cell formation, and stress adaptation. They are not stimulants. They support the body’s ability to generate steady, efficient energy. Stress, hormonal transitions, digestive variability, dietary restriction, or genetic factors can increase demand.

When I look closer: persistent fatigue, brain fog, elevated stress, hormonal shifts, and limited dietary variety

Practical Tip: Form matters. If B12 has not been helpful in the past, the issue may be the form rather than the dose.

Supplements are tools, not shortcuts. Quality matters. Formulation matters. Dosage matters. Context matters most. The goal is not to take more. The goal is to take what is appropriate for your body, your current demands, and your season of life.

Spring is about renewal, not rushing. Sustainable health is built through steady habits, thoughtful evaluation, and informed decisions, not trends or impulse purchases. When the foundation is strong and support is chosen strategically, small adjustments create meaningful momentum.

A New Name, the Same Trusted Care: Baywind Medical Continues Serving Our Community

By KELLY STALNAKER

For more than two decades, our team formerly known as J&B Medical has served the Gulf Coast community with reliable, compassionate and high-quality home medical equipment and supplies. A few months after introducing our new name, Baywind Medical, our locally owned company continues its mission of supporting patients, families and healthcare professionals with the same personalized care that has defined it since 2002. Baywind Medical remains the only locally owned home medical equipment company in Okaloosa County.

While the name Baywind Medical (a fresh new name that reflects our coastal roots and the care that continues to move forward with you) has begun to take root, the people and leadership behind the business remain unchanged. The original name, J&B Medical, was inspired by the founders' sons, Jimmy and Brandon, when they were young. Both continue to play an active role in daily operations, helping guide the company forward alongside the same trusted team customers have come to know — including Kim, Kenn, Kelly and Elizabeth — all still serving the community with the warmth and expertise clients rely on.

Why the change? The transition to Baywind Medical came as the result of a trademark matter beyond the company's control. Although saying goodbye to the longtime name wasn't easy, the new identity reflects our company's coastal roots and its continued commitment to growth while staying grounded in the relationships we've built over the years. Even now, some longtime customers still refer to the business as J&B Medical, and the team welcomes the opportunity to gently remind the community that while the name has changed, the care has not.

What remains the same is what matters most. Customers are still finding the same friendly voices answering the phone, the same dependable service and the same dedication to helping individuals find the equipment and supplies they need. Our ownership, our location, our commitment to quality and our dedication to your health remain exactly the same — simply under a new name that reflects the future of the business.

As Baywind Medical continues to settle into this next chapter, the team expresses deep gratitude for the support shown by the community during the transition. Thank you for growing with us and for continuing to make us your local choice for home medical equipment and supplies.

Our message remains simple: new name, same heart — Baywind Medical.

Sean of the South: Dogs

BY SEAN DIETRICH

My truck cab was filled with three barking dogs and one idiot. The dogs were in the backseat. The idiot was behind the wheel.

“Sit down!” the idiot kept saying.

But my dogs do not sit when I drive. They never sit. They dutifully explore their space when the vehicle is underway.

To the untrained eye my dogs appear to be acting disobediently. But that’s not it. Really, they are just looking for food.

They are always looking for food. They even look for food in places where there has never been any food, such as my bathroom. In a pinch, they will even resort to eating non-food items such as my reading glasses, my sandals, sheetrock, etc.

But they particularly go crazy when in my truck because they know the odds of finding abandoned food here are exponential. Thus, they are constantly on the lookout for expired Corn Nuts, old pistachio shells, or a petrified French fry predating the Reagan administration.

So we finally arrived at the dog park. I turned them loose.

They ran. They chased squirrels. They wrestled. They hunted around for any threatening or suspicious objects so they could sniff them, bark at them, then pee on them.

And then, basically, all the dogs in the dog park just stood around. That’s all the dogs do there. They play for short bursts, then they stand around and look at their owners.

“Why do dogs just stand around at dog parks?” one dog owner asked the group of us dog owners who were also, as it happens, just standing around.

Another dog owner said, “I drove forty-five minutes to get here, just so my dog could stand around.”

One of the other dog owners remarked, “You ever wonder what would happen if dog and human roles were reversed? What if DOGS took US to human parks? Would we go to the bathroom in front of each other?”

We all just looked at him.

And, of course, at dog parks, dogs sniff each other’s rears. I don’t know why dogs do this. This behavior has always perplexed me. They are not picky about whose butts they sniff. They’ll sniff any butt you give them.

State Licensed - License # CCC133693

I’ve read that rear-sniffing is a primal greeting of sorts wherein complex pheromone scents are exchanged. But I think it’s something dogs do because they like nasty things.

I have been owned by 13 dogs in my lifetime. And I have learned that dogs are not above wallowing in stinky objects. I have seen my dogs roll themselves in everything from cat feces to armadillo remains.

And one time when I was in a major city—this is a true story—walking my bloodhound after hours, we were near the dumpsters. It had been a long night. I had just given a speech and I was tired, so I wasn’t paying attention.

When I got back to the hotel, the clerk looked at me and said, “Sir, there’s something in your dog’s mouth.”

“Drop it, Thelma Lou!” I said.

It turned out to be—remember I am not kidding—a retired breast implant. The thing hit the floor.

The clerk and I stared at the prosthesis and, in a moment I will never forget, the clerk said flatly, “Double D.”

I’m running out of room here, but I’ll close by saying, the more I learn about people, the more I like my dogs.

A Pastor's Ponderings: When Congress Called the Bible "Invaluable"

BY PASTOR DOUG "DOC" STAUFFER

Every generation tends to reinterpret history—often not to understand the past, but to justify the present. One of the most repeated claims today is that America was founded as a secular nation, with religion confined strictly to private life. Its proponents present this view as authoritative and academic, yet it is a historically false narrative.

Here is one proof text.

In 1782, while the Revolutionary War was still underway, the United States Congress officially examined, approved, and recommended the printing of a Bible for the American people. Known as the Aitken Bible, it remains the only Bible in U.S. history to receive formal congressional endorsement.

The reason was simple yet

ATTRACTIONS SUBJECT TO CHANGE

revealing. Before independence, the colonies relied almost entirely on England for printed Bibles. When war severed that supply, Congress was warned of a national shortage. Rather than dismiss Scripture as a private matter, Congress recognized its necessity. They understood that the Bible was not merely a church book—it was foundational to morality, and morality was essential to liberty.

Congress appointed its own chaplains to examine Robert Aitken's text of the King James Bible for accuracy. After their review, Congress passed a resolution recommending the Bible to the inhabitants of the United States and describing it as an "invaluable book." That language was deliberate. Congress was not neutral toward Scripture—they appreciated it.

This single historical act exposes the weakness of the modern secular narrative. The founders did not believe faith threatened freedom; they believed it preserved freedom. They understood that a free people must be virtuous, and that virtue is shaped by biblical truth.

What makes this history especially compelling is that it is not merely an artifact of the distant past. On the opening day of the 2026 Florida legislative session in Tallahassee, an original Aitken Bible was brought into the Capitol, and a copy was presented to every elected official—including Cabinet members and Supreme Court justices. It was a quiet but powerful reminder that God's Word, once commended by America's first Congress, still speaks to those entrusted with governing today.

As America approaches her 250th anniversary, the Aitken Bible stands as a witness to a forgotten consensus: liberty does not thrive in a moral vacuum. The same Congress that fought for independence believed the Bible was worthy of public encouragement, national respect, and wide distribution.

When modern voices insist that faith has no place in America's public life, history answers back—clearly, calmly, and conclusively. There was a time when Congress did not apologize for Scripture, but recommended it to all Americans.

And perhaps the most important question as America approaches her 250th year is this: if the Bible was once considered invaluable to the survival of the Republic, what has been the result of dismissing it as optional?

Get Ready to Rock, Dance, and Sing Along at the 30th Annual MKAF Concerts in the Village Series

Smash Mouth, Iconic Tribute Acts, and Spring Nights Under the Stars Celebrate a Milestone Season at the Dugas Pavilion

BY ZANDRA WOLFGRAM

Mattie Kelly Arts Foundation (MKAF) invites music lovers to celebrate a major milestone with the 30th annual Concerts in the Village series, returning to the scenic Dugas Pavilion from April 9 through June 11, 2026. This beloved Thursday-night tradition features 10 weeks of live music, showcasing premier national musicians and tribute bands performing everything from classic rock and disco to yacht rock, pop, and '80s nostalgia.

The milestone season kicks off on April 9 with Smash Mouth, the chart-topping pop-rock band behind All Star, Walkin' on the Sun, and Then the Morning Comes. With multi-platinum albums, Grammy nominations, and countless film and television appearances, Smash Mouth brings a high-energy, feel-good opening night worthy of the series' 30th anniversary.

On April 16, Black Jacket

Symphony delivers a note-for-note recreation of Van Halen's legendary 1984 album, pairing musical precision with theatrical flair for an electrifying concert experience that has earned national acclaim.

Smooth sounds take the stage on April 23 with Yacht Rock Schooner, an eight-piece Atlanta-based tribute sailing through the mellow hits of the '70s and '80s by artists such as Kenny Loggins, Toto, and Michael McDonald—transforming the Pavilion into a high-energy

“dance party on the high seas.”

Fleetwood Mac fans won't want to miss Rumours ATL on April 30, an authentic tribute capturing the magic, harmonies, and mystique of one of rock's most beloved bands with classics including Dreams, Go Your Own Way, and The Chain.

The horn-driven hits of Chicago take center stage on May 7 with Brass Transit, whose powerhouse musicianship and dynamic vocals bring timeless favorites like 25 or 6 to 4, Saturday in the Park, and You're the Inspiration vividly to life.

On May 14, The Turnstiles celebrate the enduring catalog of Billy Joel, performing beloved songs from Piano Man to Uptown Girl with spot-on arrangements that honor the Piano Man's legendary career.

Disco fever arrives on May 21 with Boogie Wonder Band, one of the world's top disco and funk tribute acts. With colorful costumes, nonstop energy, and hits from Earth, Wind & Fire, Kool & the Gang, and more, the evening promises a full-on dance party under the stars.

The '80s roar back on May 28 when The Molly Ringwalds return with their signature blend of music, fashion, and fun, delivering what fans call the ultimate '80s experience.

On June 4, The Return: A Beatles Tribute transports audiences to the height of Beatlemania with uncanny recreations of the sound, style, and spirit of The Beatles, including music from the iconic Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band album from 1967.

The season closes on a laid-back, island-inspired note on June 11 with A1A: The Official Jimmy Buffett Tribute Band, the only tribute officially licensed by Buffett himself. Parrotheads can expect a night of tropical anthems, beach vibes, and Margaritaville magic.

Gates open at 6 p.m., with concerts beginning at 7 p.m. General admission is lawn seating. Guests are encouraged to bring blankets or low-back chairs and enjoy dinner al fresco from local food trucks while gathering with family, friends, and colleagues for this must-not-miss spring tradition.

Know Your Neighbor: Zoran Subotich

The Person Behind the Music, the Moments, and the Magic

By LORI SMITH

I'll admit it — when I first sat down to write this, I smiled. Once upon a time, before publishing deadlines and page counts, I was a DJ myself. I know the rush of reading a room, the quiet pressure of timing it just right, the invisible responsibility of holding a moment in your hands and not dropping it.

So, when I say that Zoran Subotich gets it, I mean that in the deepest, most professional, been-there way.

For more than 30 years, Zoran has been the steady heartbeat behind thousands of celebrations across the Emerald Coast — from barefoot beach weddings on 30A and Destin to elegant military galas, mitzvahs, milestone birthdays and reunions that people still talk about a decade later. Four counties. Thousands of events. And somehow — no missed cues, no awkward silences, no stressed brides.

That doesn't happen by accident.

Zoran doesn't just plan parties.

He engineers memories.

Through his company, Celebrations By The Sea, Zoran offers a truly full-service approach — the kind that allows couples and families to relax and stay present in the moment while he quietly handles the flow behind the scenes. His services include:

- DJ and professional emcee

services

- Full event planning and coordination
- Licensed wedding and event officiating
- Ceremony and reception direction
- Lighting and atmosphere

design

- Timeline creation and flow management
- Multilingual hosting and announcements

All of it is tailored. All of it intentional. And all of it delivered with a calm confidence that makes even the most complex events feel effortless.

Why Locals Love Him

Ask around Destin, Fort Walton Beach, Miramar Beach or along 30A, and you'll hear the same things again and again.

Zoran shows up early. He stays calm under pressure. He listens — really listens.

Locals trust him because he doesn't force a formula. He reads the room, adapts in real time, and keeps the focus where it belongs — on the people, not the production. Brides feel at ease. Families relax. Guests stay engaged. The event flows naturally, without feeling overproduced or rushed.

Another reason locals love Zoran? Range.

His background spans far beyond weddings and private events. Zoran is a former radio professional, trained actor, multilingual host, crisis intervention specialist, and even a black belt — a combination that gives him rare command, empathy and intuition. His résumé includes television credits on MTV's Road Rules and Prison Break, experiences that sharpened his ability to perform under pressure and connect with audiences of every kind.

That versatility allows him to move seamlessly from a beachfront ceremony at sunrise to a formal military banquet or multigenerational family celebration — always reading the energy of the room before the first guest even arrives.

And perhaps most importantly, he treats every event — big or small — like it matters. Because to the people there, it does.

That mindset has earned Zoran decades of loyalty, word-of-mouth referrals and, most recently, recognition as "Best of Business Rate 2025" for Wedding Services in Fort Walton Beach, an award based on verified reviews and consistent excellence.

This year, that heart for meaningful moments took on even deeper purpose.

Zoran and Celebrations By The Sea partnered with Wish Upon a Wedding, a nonprofit that grants weddings to couples facing terminal illness. On August 18, 2025, Zoran helped make Taylor and Ivan's wedding wish a reality — proof that for him, making moments matter isn't just business. It's deeply personal.

Based in Fort Walton Beach, Zoran serves the full Gulf Coast with a hands-on, full-service approach that has made Celebrations By The Sea a trusted name for locals, military families and destination couples alike.

"Excellence is our standard, but joy is our mission," Zoran says — and honestly, that says it all.

Not everyone knows how to make a moment matter.

Zoran does — every single time.

Museum Series: The 250th Celebration of America! American Revolution Exhibit at the Heritage Museum

BY BARBARA PALMGREN

In late January, several trustees removed the Vietnam Refugee Camp exhibit panels that had been on display in 2025 to make room for the Celebrate America 250! American Revolution. This new exhibit is one of two in the area to develop an historical exhibit honoring the birthday of our nation, the Signing of the Declaration of Independence.

That being said, Ken Walsh, Mike Weaver and myself encountered the worst imaginable scenario. Using blow dryers and then trying a heat gun, removal began. Apparently, these panels wanted to stay a little longer and additional implements had to be used and when they finally came off the wall... so did the paint and part of the drywall. The panels had been attached with two-sided tape that was easily removed when several panels were used at the college years ago. Ace Hardware came to the rescue and donated spackling compound to fill the holes and the trustees applied and sanded what they could.

A professional painter, James Roberts, then retextured and repainted the walls. Next, Chris and crew from CJ Signs installed descriptive panels, a large copy of John Trumbell's famous painting of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and a valuable colonial paper money collection display in a large decorative frame. Flora Kerr, donated her time and expertise with years of experience at Jo Ann Fabrics, to make a replica of the drape viewed in the Trumbell painting. The drape covers a window and a nearby table with quill and pen adds to the ambiance of being with those heroes 300 years ago.

Special thanks go to Dr. Kristina Duffy, Arthur Edgar, and Dr. Marie Hallion who helped arrange the exhibit panels in this order; British Florida on one wall, the original thirteen British colonies located on the main wall, main events on several walls, and the Trumbell painting and colonial money on a wall that viewers see immediately upon entering the exhibit hall from the museum. The exhibit honors the history of events, places and people prominent prior to the signing of the Declaration of Independence. A tent replica and movie are also part of the exhibit as well as a Children's Corner where interactive experiences will delight and inspire young people.

Words alone don't describe this journey but a few photos may help! Please come this year to a special tribute that is now on display in your local community and view the other exciting exhibits at the Heritage Museum of Northwest Florida located in old downtown Valparaiso.
